An Awesome Day at the Park

When Ernesto Chaidez was asked what he thought about the Jefferson ISD 4th Grade field trip to the Port of Jefferson History and Nature Center recently, without hesitation he exclaimed, "This is an awesome day!" Chaidez and planting partner Alex Dorris, who echoed the sentiment, were joined by 100 other 4th Grade students in exploring the wonders of the history and nature center with instructors Dale Hoskins, Lisa Barry, Carolyn Cakley and Collins Academy Staff and volunteers for the outing.

The group hiked along the nature and history trail, visited the observational bee hive sampling honey from it, made bird seed cones to hang from trees and carefully planted native milkweed reared by the high school horticulture class. The students happily embraced all the day's activities and were anxious to return to see the progress of the new plants after spring break.

The activities were all part of Jefferson ISD's Pollinator Pals project, which is funded by a grant from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Collins Academy and volunteers from the Cypress Basin Chapter of Texas Master Naturalists and the Texas AgriScience Extension Service in Marion and Cass counties partner in delivery of grant activities to all students attending Jefferson public schools.

Science instructor Carolyn Cakley said, "it has been a good adventure," adding that so many places don't offer classes like this for students, it's all classroom instruction, it is good to have the opportunity to get the students outside where they can see things for themselves. While history instructor Lisa Barry said "I believe the programs are essential to provide opportunities that they otherwise would not be exposed to, and it backs up what we are already teaching them in class."

Collins Academy founder, Richard Collins, and the staff said, "we extend our thanks and best wishes to these dedicated instructors, and all instructors who are helping to make Collins Academy programs a success."
